

ABSTRACT.

- A camera system, comprising a digital camera, a GPS (Global Positioning System) receiver or the like which serves accurately to
- 5 identify the position of the digital camera in at least two horizontal coordinate dimensions, and a data store for a digital camera image produced, wherein the digital image stored is annotated or labelled with data identifying camera position at the time of image capture.